Welcome From the Chair

Dear TIPS Friends:

I am looking forward to welcoming you all to Atlanta for our Second Annual TIPS Section Conference at the InterContinental Buckhead Atlanta. Atlanta is a beautiful city with many wonderful and exciting attractions, including the Martin Luther King Jr. Center, the Herndon Home, the World of Coca-Cola, the Hammonds House Museum, the College Football Hall of Fame, the Atlanta University Center, the Georgia Aquarium, and many more!

The Section Conference Task Force has developed programming that will have broad application and will appeal to a wide variety of trial lawyers and litigators involved in tort and insurance law, including young lawyers. There will be multiple opportunities to network with colleagues and speakers at receptions each of the first two nights. We will be hosting our Annual Leadership Luncheon on Friday at the hotel. The social highlight of the meeting will be our Gala Dinner at the World of Coca-Cola Museum on Friday evening.

I am also excited to have as Section Conference co-hosts the following: the State Bar of Georgia, Atlanta Bar Association, Georgia Defense Lawyers Association, Georgia Trial Lawyers Association, Georgia Association for Women Lawyers, and Georgia Asian Pacific American Bar Association. We are also proud to be co-hosting a Women in the Law track in conjunction with the ABA Commission on Women in the Profession and the Center for Women in the Law, as well as co-hosting a distinguished panel of federal, state, and appellate judges in conjunction with the ABA Judicial Division.

I am honored to have joint programming with our friends in these local, state, and national bar associations, and to welcome them to our networking events, Leadership Luncheon and Gala Dinner.

There are few meetings that can compare with the TIPS Section Conference. For one low price, you can choose between two program tracks and earn more than 13 hours of CLE credit, including 6 hours of ethics credit. Your registration fee includes networking receptions on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

The Section Conference is designed for all TIPS members because we believe that in an increasingly frenetic profession—where budgets are stretched and lawyers are overworked—all of us want and need meetings where we can get practical programming, network with colleagues and clients, and develop professionally.

So, the place for every TIPS member to be this year is the InterContinental Buckhead Atlanta for the Second Annual TIPS Section Conference starting on May 11.

I hope to see you and your friends in Atlanta!

Message from Program/Conference

DEAR TIPS FRIENDS:

On behalf of our respective organizations, we are looking forward to welcoming you to Atlanta as co-hosts of the Second Annual TIPS Section Conference, May 11-13, 2016 at the InterContinental Buckhead Atlanta.

With its southern hospitality, and rich and diverse heritage, Atlanta is the perfect place to host the Second Annual TIPS Section Conference. While there, we hope you have the opportunity to enjoy some of the many attractions the city has to offer, including fine dining, cultural and historic sites, and recreational options.

By joining forces, we are bringing together many of the nation's premier experts for a great meeting with excellent programs and numerous social events that will be a lot of fun!

There will be over 25 hours of CLE programming, featuring more than 40 general counsels, in-house counsel and/or insurance company speakers plus nine judges. Most will be panel discussions with a heavy emphasis on insights and tips from in-house counsel. There will be programs on trial techniques, using experts, and jury selection. The judges will discuss what works in the courtroom and what does not.

There will be multiple programs on business development and client retention presented from the perspective of in-house counsel. There will be an inspiring Women in the Law series, a U.S. Supreme Court update, a program bringing together leaders from GDLA and GTLA to bridge the divide between the plaintiff's and defense bar, and a cutting-edge cyber liability program. There will be programs of interest to corporate counsel, as well.

There will be sessions tailored for young professionals, as well as late night social events for both young and "young at heart"!

The programs will appeal to all TIPS Members, including members of both the plaintiffs' and defense bars, claims professionals, and corporate counsel. If you need ethics, you will be able to satisfy most, if not all, of your yearly ethics requirements at this conference!

Almost all of the programs will have concurrent sessions so attendees can choose between two programs and pick the sessions that are of the most interest to them.

There will be Wednesday and Thursday networking receptions that will allow attendees to socialize and meet the in-house counsel and judges.

The program task force has done a great job of putting together topics and speakers which will be of interest to everyone! We look forward to seeing you and your colleagues in Atlanta this Spring.

ETHICS AND INSURANCE: AN IN-DEPTH LOOK AT ETHICAL ISSUES THAT ARISE IN HANDLING AND LITIGATING INSURANCE CLAIMS (CE CREDIT REQUESTED)

This panel will explore tricky ethical issues that can arise in the context of insurance claims, including potential conflicts between the insured, defense counsel, and the insurer, as well as conflicts that may arise when an insurer has issued policies to multiple parties who are now embroiled in a dispute with each other. When the insurer hires an attorney to defend an insured, who is the client? Must or may the attorney consider how a particular strategy will affect coverage? How can coverage issues and policy limits affect the parties' relationships and the defense of the insured? When an insurer has insured two or more entities that now have a dispute, does the claims handler for Insured A have to be walled off from any information involving Insured B because the two parties are fighting? What ethical issues face an attorney representing Insured A or B who was hired by the insurance company? In discussions between the attorney and the insurance company, is it unethical for the claims handler to mention something he knows only because his employer is insuring another dog in the fight? Must the attorney warn the claims handler to keep that type of information concealed? The panelists will explore these and other ethical questions that often come up when handling insurance claims.

CLE Program Schedule

RESOLVING INSURANCE DISPUTES AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE: STRATEGIES TO GET IT SETTLED OR TO WIN ON SUMMARY JUDGMENT

Given the often exorbitant cost of trial, many litigants to insurance disputes are eager to dispose of the case before trial, either by settling early or prevailing on summary judgment. When you want to settle, what strategies are most effective? The panelists will explore negotiation tactics and steps to take that will establish a strong negotiating position long before you call the mediator. The panelists will also offer advice on how to obtain the ultimate victory: winning on summary judgment. Summary judgment can be elusive in the insurance context, in no small part because the briefing on insurance topics is often dry and unpersuasive. This panel of experts will discuss how to punch up your briefs to give the client the best chance of prevailing at the summary-judgment stage

HOW TO HANDLE AND LITIGATE CLAIMS OF BAD FAITH (AND MAYBE PREVENT THEM ALTOGETHER) (CE CREDIT REQUESTED)

A claim of bad faith elevates everyone's blood pressure. The panelists will discuss how to deal with these stressful claims, including how insurers can discourage insureds from bringing them, as well how all parties involved, both insurer and insured, should handle these claims once they are in play in an insurance or surety coverage lawsuit. In particular, the panelists will examine whether to bifurcate the coverage issues from the bad-faith claim, both at the discovery phase and at trial. They will also discuss how a claim of bad faith affects the scope of discovery, the appropriate trial strategy, dispositive motions, negotiations/mediation, and the parties' general conduct throughout the litigation.

How are women trial lawyers faring in the courtroom these days? According to a blockbuster report recently published by the ABA and the Commission on Women in the Profession, women trial lawyers are grossly underrepresented in the critically important roles of first chairs and court-appointed lead counsels that are necessary to give them credibility in high-stakes and complex litigation. The authors of the study, "First Chairs at Trial: More Women Need Seats at the Table," will share their unique insights and observations of the study's findings and best practices to achieve better diversity in the courtroom. The panel will also provide judicial and practitioner insights into court appointments and ways in which the judicial process can be used to promote more women attorneys to leadership roles, such as steering committees, class counsel, special counsel, ad litem, and advisory committees.

INSIDE VIEW: LEGAL AND ETHICAL CONSIDERATIONS FOR IN-HOUSE COUNSEL

Corporate counsel life can present its own set of challenges. This distinguished panel will address some of the challenging ethical and practical issues faced by corporate counsel when managing corporate responsibility and compliance issues as well as when dealing with complex, “bet the company” litigation, including class actions, mass torts, and data breach cases. This panel will answer the question—what ethical and practical issues keep in-house counsel up at night and how can outside counsel help?
