Why You Should Attend

This is the first ABA Section of Litigation CLE of the year and it's on point to discuss new and emerging trends in 2013 and focus of the new political administration. With direct impact on three separate but related areas of law, it is essential for anyone practicing in environmental, mass tort or product liability to attend. This seminar brings together well-respected in-house counsel, government employees and political appointees, members of the judiciary, university professors, experts, and both plaintiff and defense counsel from across the United States. Set at a beautiful Steamboat Springs ski resort, with time to enjoy outdoor activities, this CLE seminar is an entertaining and informative way to receive your CLE credit, including three hours of ethics, in a single weekend!

What You Will Learn

With a focus on increasing regulations and expectations of the new administration, the panels aim to provide a broad overview of the year behind and ahead of us. Our panels will interactively engage you as you learn tips on mass tort, product liability, and environmental cases from start to finish. Learn how to better prepare experts, gain insight into in-house counsel quandaries, review signals that a settlement may implicate an ethical dilemma, get tips for reacting to counsel switching tactics mid-case, discuss impacts of increased regulation on litigation, stay abreast of sustainability in supply chain transparency regulations, consider global resolution issues, and how to ethically market in our digital age.

Who Should Attend

- ▶ All attorneys who are in the areas of environmental, mass torts, and products liability litigation
- ▶ In-house counsel and litigators who are interested in discussing substantive and practical challenges in today's ever-changing world
- ▶ New or seasoned practitioners wanting an update from leading trial lawyers, experts, and members of our judiciary on litigation techniques, trial presentation, and the latest developments in the law
