Why You Should Attend

On this 10th anniversary of the Joint CLE Seminar of the Environmental, Mass Torts, and Products Liability Litigation Committees, join us to discuss issues about how our practice is evolving and where it is expected to go. With direct impact on three separate yet related areas of law, it is essential for any litigator practicing in environmental, mass torts, or products liability law to attend. This Joint CLE brings well-respected in-house counsel, government employees, members of the judiciary, university professors and deans, experts, and both plaintiffs and defense counsel from across the United States. Set at the beautiful Park Hyatt Beaver Creek Resort & Spa, with plenty of time to enjoy outdoor activities, this Joint CLE is an entertaining and informative way to receive your CLE credit in a weekend.

What You Will Learn

As we celebrate the history of this important seminar, we will look back at the evolution of long-standing issues as well as new concerns facing litigators in these practice areas. Hear experts from all walks of the legal community discuss the changing practice of law, from increasing global competition, to changes in procurement, to the vanishing trial. Experienced in-house counsel will examine how the constantly progressing world of technology is revolutionizing data and communications management. Learn how to remain ethical in a technological and truly global legal marketplace, ascertain trends in litigation and cases that actually make it to trial, and get tips for working with experts in the midst of changing evidentiary rules. Our panels interactively engage you as you learn and receive tips on mass torts, products liability, and environmental cases from start to finish.

Who Should Attend

- ▶ All attorneys who practice in the areas of environmental, mass torts, and products liability litigation
- ▶ In-house counsel who are interested in discussing substantive and practical challenges in today's ever-changing world
- ▶ New or seasoned practitioners wanting an update from leading trial lawyers, experts, and members of our judiciary on litigation techniques and the latest developments in the law
- ▶ Young lawyers wishing to become more actively involved in the environmental, mass torts, or products liability practice, Section of Litigation Committees, and the legal community

Thursday, January 30

5:00 pm – 6:00 pm CLE Young Lawyers' Breakout: How to Manage Conversations with Expert Witnesses

Working with expert witnesses often creates unique issues for young lawyers. This breakout panel, composed of an expert witness and members of the plaintiffs and defense bars, will offer young lawyers insight on how to manage expert communications to effectively advocate a client's case or position. Panelists will address common challenges facing young litigators in this area and provide tips in managing expert communications, including issues such as checking your governing rules including FRCP 26, expert selection, retention and deposition preparation, and preserving confidentiality.

Moderator: Rebecca L. Sosa

Speakers: Debra J. Aron, Ervin A. Gonzalez, W. Clay Massey

Friday, January 31

7:00 am – 8:00 am CLE Ethics Session: The Evolution of Ethics

As the legal landscape changes, ethical rules must also change. Technology has an omnipresent role in the practice of law, from communications to data management. Globalization and increased mobility have made it easier for lawyers to practice in many jurisdictions regardless of their physical location. Lawyers must understand their ethical duties in the face of these changes. This panel will discuss recent changes to the ABA Model Rules of Professional Conduct regarding technology and globalization and offer insight for how lawyers should adjust to an evolving world.

Moderator: John M. Barkett

Speakers: Ira Gonzalez, David L. Schwan, Margaret M. Witherup

8:15 am – 9:30 am CLE Plenary Session: The Changing Practice of Law

Hear distinguished panelists from across the legal landscape discuss how the practice of law is evolving. A plaintiff's lawyer, defense lawyer, in-house counsel, judge, and law school dean will present the changes and challenges we all face as lawyers including a shifting job market, changing client goals for the resolution of legal issues, lawyer procurement, and the vanishing trial, as well as other important topics that will continue to impact the legal profession.

Speakers: Hon. Rosemary Barkett, Dean Ronald K. Chen, Melanie D. Margolin, Karen Barth Menzies, Chilton Davis Varner

9:45 am – 11:00 am CLE Plenary Session: MTBE Litigation: The Intersection of Products Liability, Mass Torts, and Environmental Law

A products liability case, alleging a mass tort with environmental damages...this panel will provide an in-depth discussion of the New Hampshire MTBE litigation. Hear about the novel theories presented in the case including the use of experts to extrapolate damages on a statewide basis, use of market share liability theories in a products liability context, the scope of a state's authority in pursuing claims on behalf of its citizens, and the use of contingent fee counsel in pursuing those claims.

Moderator: Nessa Horewitch Coppinger

Speakers: Jessica L. Grant, Sophia Lee, William J. Stack

11:00 am – 12:00 pm CLE Products Liability Breakout: Regulatory Update

These distinguished panelists will provide insight into recent laws, regulations, and enforcement trends facing product manufacturers subject to the jurisdiction of the Consumer Product Safety Commission, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, and the Food and Drug Administration.

Moderator: Josh Johanningmeier

Speakers: Cheryl A. Falvey, Donna N. Godward, Rich Young

CLE Plenaries & Breakouts

Friday, January 31

11:00 am – 12:00 pm CLE Mass Torts Breakout: Litigating in the Mass Torts Media Spotlight

High visibility cases present special sets of challenges for both plaintiff and defense teams. Legal strategies have to be closely aligned with the client's mission as well as the business operations of companies and institutions in order to not harm the reputation and brand. This interactive workshop offers a look at the principles of litigation communications, how to set up a privileged communications infrastructure, and general rules of translating legal proceedings into effective messages for audiences outside the courtroom. Attendees will apply these basic ideas via a case study scenario, where they have the opportunity to become journalists during a mock press conference.

Speakers: Sammy Ford IV, Kent Jarrell, Tanya M. Lawson

Saturday, February 1

7:45 am – 9:00 am CLE In-House Plenary Session: A Look at How Technology Issues Impact our Clients

Technological advances over the past decade have drastically changed the way we practice law—from handling e-discovery to maintaining privacy of employees and customers. In-house counsel today are on the front line of this “impossible mission”—facing fast evolving challenges brought on by electronic communications with internal clients and outside counsel. Follow our panel and “Get Smart” about futuristic technologies available now that will change the way companies maintain data and conduct business.

Moderator: Lori B. Leskin

Speakers: Sonya Hill Bishop, N. Cornell Boggs, III, Ronald J. Hedges, Danielle G. Stock

9:15 am – 10:30 am CLE Plenary Session: Daubert: Looking Back, Looking Forward

Daubert is an ever-constant, yet ever-changing part of our lives. Three seasoned litigators and a judge will explain where Daubert has been and, more importantly, where it is going. Then, watch as they act out a mock Daubert hearing, giving the audience key insights into what it takes to make the most compelling and successful Daubert argument.

Moderator: Sharon L. Caffrey

Speakers: Hon. Eldon Fallon, Catherine Heacox, Pamela J. Yates

10:30 am – 11:30 am CLE Products Liability Breakout: Products Liability Year in Review

Join us as we highlight significant developments in case law during the past year and focus on what to watch for in 2014.

Speakers: Samuel Lanier Felker, Tonya G. Newman

10:30 am – 11:30 am CLE Environmental Breakout: Shifting Sands: A Sediment Case Study on CERCLA Divisibility

The CERCLA divisibility landscape has undergone many changes in recent years, with a number of divisibility battles being waged over sediment. This panel will discuss the state of divisibility law through the lens of the recent Fox River case. Learn about the legal and scientific arguments used to support a divisibility argument, as well as a brief survey of the outcomes of divisibility cases around the country.

Moderator: David R. Erickson

Speakers: Jennifer Benaman, William J. Jackson, Bina Joshi
