We believe that diverse and inclusive leaders create a better world.

_Egon Zehnder’s Commitment to Diversity_

Cultivating the Next Generation of Women Leaders

Atlanta
Summerour Studio
March 7, 2017

Visit Leaders & Daughters at www.egonzehnder.com, join the Leaders & Daughters LinkedIn group and follow #LeadersAndDaughters on Twitter
About Leaders and Daughters

A year ago, to mark International Women’s Day, Egon Zehnder conceived Leaders & Daughters, a series of events that brings the world’s most admired leaders and their daughters together to uncover the motivations, challenges and opportunities that face the next generation of professional women.

In 2017, we go further. In celebration of International Women’s Day, we will host Leaders & Daughters events in more than 40 cities worldwide – bringing together the voices of more than 3,500 participants to share their stories of success as well as the obstacles that are preventing progress.

We share one common goal: to collectively pave a better future for the next generation of women leaders.

About Egon Zehnder

Since 1964, Egon Zehnder has been at the forefront of defining great leadership in the face of changing economic conditions, emerging opportunities and evolving business goals. With more than 425 consultants in 69 offices and 41 countries around the globe, we work closely with public and private corporations, family-owned enterprises and nonprofit and government agencies to provide board advisory services, CEO and leadership succession planning, executive search and assessment, and leadership development. For more information visit www.egonzehnder.com and follow us on LinkedIn and Twitter.

Host cities and dates

| February 28 | Bangalore |
| March 1     | Hong Kong, London |
| March 2     | Chicago, Dallas |
| March 3     | New Delhi |
| March 6     | New York City |
| March 7     | Atlanta, Bogota, Boston, Miami, Toronto, Washington, D.C. |
| March 8     | Brussels, Johannesburg, Melbourne, Paris, San Francisco, Shanghai, Sydney, Tokyo, Warsaw |
| March 9     | Buenos Aires, Istanbul, Lisbon, Madrid, Seoul |
| March 13    | Dusseldorf, São Paulo |
| March 14    | Amsterdam, Milan |
| March 16    | Moscow |
| March 22    | Santiago |
| April 5     | Hamburg |
| April TBD   | Dubai, Houston |
| May 11      | Los Angeles |
| TBD         | Kuala Lumpur, Mexico, Palo Alto |
Agenda

6:30  Welcome reception
7:00  Panelist discussion
7:45  Post-panel networking
Moderator

Kylie Wright-Ford
Author
The Leadership Mind Switch

Kylie Wright-Ford is a strategic advisor, investor and board member for private enterprises that are transforming or growing in new ways. Most recently Chief Operating and Strategy Officer for World 50, Kylie’s leadership positions have spanned operational, strategic and sales roles in prestigious financial and professional services firms like Goldman Sachs (JBWere) in Australia and global networking firm GLG in New York and London.

She is an experienced leader of talent, M&A transactions and growth initiatives. Oxford educated (MBA) and globally travelled, Kylie is a popular guest lecturer and experienced moderator of conversations with world leaders, celebrities and disruptors. She has recently co-authored a book on leading in the new world of work – The Leadership Mind Switch.
Panelists

Kelly Barrett
Senior Vice President, Home Services
The Home Depot

Kelly Barrett is senior vice president of home services for The Home Depot. She oversees the strategy of the home services business, including in-home sales and installation, operations, customer contact centers, as well as contractor sourcing, onboarding and compliance. In addition, Kelly is also responsible for revenue and profitability for four Home Depot subsidiary businesses: HD Interiors, Home Renovations Services, HD Measurement Services and HD Exteriors.

Kelly joined The Home Depot in 2003 as vice president and corporate controller and has held roles of increasing responsibility including, most recently, vice president of internal audit and corporate compliance. Prior to joining The Home Depot, she served as senior vice president and chief financial officer for Cousins Properties Incorporated and as an audit manager at Arthur Andersen in Atlanta.

Kelly serves on the Board of Piedmont Office Realty Trust. In addition, from 2011 to 2016, Kelly served on the Board of State Bank Financial Corporation. She also serves on the boards of the YMCA of Metro Atlanta and The Girl Scouts of Greater Atlanta. She is a member of the Atlanta Rotary Club and serves on its Executive Committee.

As a distinguished alumna, Kelly serves as Chair of the Advisory Board of Georgia Tech’s Scheller Business School. She also serves on the Georgia Tech Foundation Board of Trustees. Kelly graduated from Georgia Tech in 1986 with highest honors, earning a Bachelor of Science in Industrial Management. In April 2006, she was inducted into the Georgia Tech College of Management’s Council of Outstanding Young Alumni.
John J. Huntz, Jr. has served as a director of Manhattan Associates since January 1999 and as chairman of its board of directors since May 2003. Mr. Huntz also serves as managing director of Huntz & Co., LLC, a venture investment and advisory firm.

He is a board member of the American Heart Association, the Piedmont Hospital Foundation, and Georgia Advanced Technology Ventures at Georgia Tech. Mr. Huntz founded and is chairman of the Southern Capital Forum, and is an advisor to Balentine, a wealth management firm.

From 2005 to 2013, Mr. Huntz served as executive director, Venture Capital Investments, of Arcapita, Inc., and from 2009 – 2013, served as its president. From 2006 until 2010, Mr. Huntz served as chairman of the board and member of the audit committee of CardioMEMS, Inc., the designer of a heart failure monitoring system.

Mr. Huntz’ previous positions included that of executive vice president and chief operating officer of Fuqua Enterprises, Inc., a publicly traded manufacturer of healthcare products. Mr. Huntz also has had principal or senior management positions with several private investment firms. He also is past chairman of the Georgia Logistics Innovation Council.

Megan Huntz is an American fashion designer based in Atlanta, GA. With a degree in Industrial Design from Pratt Institute, she went to Milan to pursue her Master in Fashion Design at Domus Academy in 2003. In 2011, she founded her eponymous collection, after spending nearly a decade in Italy and Spain, working for companies such as Spazio Lazzari of Treviso, Meltin’Pot and the MaxMara group.

Huntz considers herself part of the Slow Fashion Movement - a manufacturing revolution encompassing all things eco and ethical. She is passionate about her local fashion community, and her entire collection is designed and manufactured in Atlanta, GA. An important part in her point of view is on sustainability: taking something that would otherwise be wasted and turning it into something beautiful, coveted and perhaps most importantly, in-disposable. She aims to inspire and connect people, catalyze change, and ignite the fashion design community in Atlanta with a “think global/act local” approach.
Stephanie Mains is CEO of GE’s Industrial Solutions business and a corporate officer of GE. Industrial Solutions, a GE heritage business, provides advanced technologies that protect and control the distribution of electricity throughout a facility’s infrastructure.

She joined GE Transportation as part of the company’s Financial Management Program and during the next 10 years held roles of progressive responsibility at GE Transportation and GE Capital. In 1999, she joined GE Aviation and held posts including Chief Financial Officer (CFO) for Material Services, CFO for customized service agreements and quality manager for Engine Services.

Moving to GE Energy in 2006, she oversaw GE’s network of global gas repair centers, program support and new repair introduction rollouts. She was promoted to GM of Parts & Repair Services in 2010, which over two years, transformed into Services Operations, a 3,800-person, $4B global organization responsible for parts and repairs across GE’s gas and steam turbines and generators. Stephanie was named a GE Officer in 2012. In 2013, she was appointed VP of Global Services for GE’s Distributed Power, a leading provider of power equipment, engines and services focused on power generation at or near the point of use.

Stephanie holds a bachelor’s degree in finance from the University of Kentucky. She and her husband, Charles, have two children – Ben and Grace – and live in Atlanta, Georgia.

Christina Miller is president of Turner’s Cartoon Network, Adult Swim, and Boomerang and is responsible for leading the business in North America and working closely with Turner International to establish an overall worldwide strategic plan that will align the Kids business. Her role also includes global oversight of linear and non-linear content, the consumer products group and franchise management.

Prior to her current position, Miller was general manager of NBA Digital and senior vice president of Turner Sports Strategy/Marketing/Programming, where she oversaw the day-to-day operations for the NBA Digital portfolio, which included NBA TV, the league’s 24-hour digital television network, NBA.com, WNBA.com, NBA League.com, NBA League Pass; and the league’s broadband and wireless businesses. Digital.

She joined Turner in 2005 as senior vice president of Cartoon Network Enterprises (CNE) and directed Turner’s youth and young adults consumer products and home video business in the United States, including global licensing partnerships and merchandising strategies and retail business development for Cartoon Network and Adult Swim properties.
Brenda Wood is a veteran broadcast journalist whose career spans 37 years reporting and anchoring the news in the South. Brenda is one of Atlanta’s most prominent and trusted local news broadcasters, retiring as the evening anchor of NBC affiliate WXIA 11Alive in February 2017.

Brenda is a Summa Cum Laude graduate of Loma Linda University in Riverside, California. Upon receiving her Bachelor’s degree in Speech Communication and Mass Media in 1977, Brenda began her journalism career only months later as a general assignment reporter at WAAY-TV in Huntsville, Alabama.

A year later, in 1978, Brenda accepted a reporting position at WSM-TV in Nashville, Tennessee, but just a few months later at the age of 23, she returned to WAAY in Huntsville to become the weeknight anchor for the 6pm and 10pm news. In 1980, Brenda’s career took her to Memphis, Tennessee, where she spent eight years as the primetime anchor for the weekday evening newscasts at WMC-TV. She was Memphis’ first black female news anchor.

In 1988, Brenda accepted the primetime anchor position at WAGA-TV in Atlanta, Georgia where she also reported and co-produced and hosted the Emmy Award-winning news magazine show Minute by Minute. Brenda later joined WXIA-TV in Atlanta in 1997. She just retired as anchor for the 5pm, 6pm and 11pm weeknight newscasts. She also anchored The Daily 11 at 7 newscast that featured her award-winning and nationally recognized Last Word commentary. Brenda has also co-produced and hosted several Emmy Award-winning prime time specials at WXIA including multiple editions of Journeys with Brenda Wood.

Kandis Wood Jackson is a graduate of Harvard Law School, and is currently an associate attorney at Alston & Bird LLP, where she focuses her practice on labor & employment law.

Kandis’ community work includes serving on the boards of two Atlanta-based non-profit organizations: the Atlanta Center for Self Sufficiency and Kenny Leon’s True Colors Theatre Company. Kandis also mentors at-risk youth in the Atlanta area and provides volunteer and pro bono legal services to local schools and organizations such as the Ron Clark Academy, Thomasville Heights Elementary School, the KIPP Atlanta Schools, the Truancy Intervention Program, the National Black Arts Festival, and the Pro Bono Partnership of Atlanta.

Before law school, Kandis taught sixth grade social studies in West Atlanta through the Teach For America program. Kandis is a member of the Leadership Atlanta LEAD Atlanta Class of 2017 and a graduate of the Georgia State Bar’s Young Lawyers Division Leadership Academy Class of 2016. She earned a B.A. in English and Political Science, cum laude, from Duke University in 2008.
Jeffrey Otto, based in Atlanta, is a leader in Egon Zehnder’s Industrial Practice. He leverages his deep work experience across the industrial sector to advise clients in executive search and management assessments.

Prior to joining Egon Zehnder, Jeff was an executive with GE where he held a variety of roles over seven years including General Manager, Quality Leader and Corporate Initiatives Director. Before joining GE, Jeff was a Senior Engagement Manager with Monitor Consulting (now Monitor Deloitte) where he focused on client supply chain and operations issues. Earlier, Jeff was a plant manager with Praxair also held engineering roles with MEMC and Monsanto.

Jeff earned a BS with Distinction from Cornell University in Chemical Engineering, a MEng from Cornell University in Chemical Engineering and an MBA from the University of Chicago, Booth School of Business.
Eric Anderson is a member of the Atlanta and New York Offices and the founder of Egon Zehnder’s FinTech practice group. He is a core member of the Financial Services and Technology Practices serving global clients in executive search, board search and leadership assessment capacities.

Mr. Anderson focuses on innovation and digital and technology enabled services transformation initiatives with leading global clients in the financial services ecosystem covering banking, payments, transaction processing, market infrastructure and insurance, both public and private equity backed companies. This work touches on a broad array of functional areas, including senior general management positions and senior level functional leadership roles.

Prior to joining Egon Zehnder International, Mr. Anderson was the President of the Compliance Services and Licensing Solutions Division with The BISYS Group, Inc., a provider of outsourcing, back-office, and third-party services to more than 22,000 financial institutions. Earlier, he was Vice President of Global Channels at S1 Corporation, an enterprise financial services software company. The early stages of Mr. Anderson’s career centered on software and associated services and healthcare – clinical diagnostics.