Alan Pryor is a senior associate with Alston & Bird's Litigation & Trial Practice Group and a member of the firm's Food & Beverage and Insurance class action Teams. An experienced litigator and trial attorney, Alan represents clients across multiple industries in complex commercial litigation and class action disputes, with a particular focus on the food, beverage, and alcohol space and insurance issues. Alan has represented clients in a wide variety of disputes before state and federal courts across the country, including class action defense, breach of contract, fraud, false advertising and unfair competition, business torts, and corporate governance. He is well known for his thought leadership in the food and beverage and alcohol industries as a co-author of the firm's monthly Food & Beverage Digest and as a regular speaker on the top legal and regulatory issues facing the industries. Alan is recognized by The Best Lawyers in America® in "Ones to Watch" for commercial litigation.

Before joining Alston & Bird, Alan clerked for the Hon. Dudley H. Bowen, Jr. of the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Georgia. While attending law school, he served as senior managing editor for the Georgia Law Review and research assistant for Rebecca H. White, Dean and J. Alton Hosch Professor of Law.
