Brad applies his experience in the federal judiciary and a state law department to accomplish clients' goals in litigation, investigations, and commercial disputes.

Bradley Harder is a senior associate in Alston & Bird's Litigation & Trial Practice Group with experience in health care litigation, class actions, government investigations, and other complex commercial litigation. He handles all phases of litigation on behalf of clients from many sectors, including insurance, finance, and health care.

Brad serves on the board of Mental Health America of Georgia, and he maintains an active pro bono practice in collaboration with Kids in Need of Defense. In 2023–2025, The Best Lawyers in America® recognized Brad as "One to Watch" in its list of lawyers who have demonstrated outstanding professional excellence early in their careers.

Before joining Alston & Bird, Brad worked as a Georgia assistant attorney general representing state agencies and employees, and he clerked for the Honorable Louise W. Flanagan of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina.

Brad graduated with honors as a Chancellors Scholar from the University of North Carolina School of Law, where he served as an editor on the North Carolina Law Review and as a judicial extern for the Honorable Joe L. Webster of the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina. He earned his undergraduate degree with high honors with a full merit scholarship at Washington and Lee University.
