Dan Jouppi is an associate on Alston & Bird's Corporate Trust, Agency & Asset Servicing Team. He focuses his practice on representing financial institutions that provide corporate trust, custody, loan agency, reporting, and administrative services in capital markets transactions, including transactions involving the issuance of CDO/CLO and CMBS/RMBS securities, project finance transactions, and corporate and municipal bond transactions. Additionally, Dan has experience representing financial institutions in renewable energy financing structures and asset management and representing foreign and domestic businesses in ERISA restrictions and regulatory issues.

Before joining Alston & Bird, Dan served as legal counsel for four years at a leading global investment bank in New York where he supported the CLO business. Dan earned his J.D. from the Wake Forest University School of Law, where he served as an articles editor for the Wake Forest Law Review. He earned his B.A. in international relations from Michigan State University.
