Joon provides clients with trusted advice on intricate tax issues that arise in the planning and structuring of financial and other business transactions.

Joon Yoo is an associate in the Federal & International Tax Group. He advises institutional investors, underwriters, investment funds, REITs, and SPACs on tax issues stemming from complex transactions. Joon's transactional tax experience includes guiding clients through mergers and acquisitions, restructurings, equity and debt offerings, syndicated loans, and investing in private equity funds. He focuses his practice on tax planning and structuring for multinational businesses.

Before joining Alston & Bird, Joon honed his skills with financial and corporate transaction tax matters at two New York firms. Joon received an LL.M in taxation from the New York University School of Law. He earned his J.D., cum laude, from the University of Michigan Law School, where he served as an executive editor for the Michigan Journal of International Law. He was also an intern for the Securities and Exchange Commission's Office of Credit Ratings.
