Lex Diktas Mayo is an associate in Alston & Bird's Securities Litigation Group. Lex focuses her practice on shareholder derivative lawsuits, government enforcement actions, internal investigations, class action lawsuits, and other complex civil litigation matters.

Lex earned her J.D. from Vanderbilt University Law School. While earning her degree, Lex served as an articles editor for the Vanderbilt Journal of Transnational Law and clerking in the Office of the U.S. Attorney, Middle District of Tennessee. She earned her B.A., magna cum laude, from The Ohio State University in international studies, world economy & business.

Representative Experience

- Drafted a motion to dismiss in securities litigation class action related to allegedly false statements included in SEC filings; responded to discovery requests related to the same.
- Conducted an internal investigation in response to the threat of a shareholder derivative suit, which included reviewing over 29,000 documents and interviewing eight witnesses; drafted an internal investigation memorandum summarizing the investigation's conclusions.
- Responded to a civil investigative demand related to wage-fixing antitrust violations in the chicken industry; drafted research memoranda related to the class action litigation simultaneously pending.
- Managed the deposition preparation in False Claims Act case arising from a client purportedly unlawfully distributing over $200 million of Hurricane Katrina-related recovery funds.
- Negotiated the settlement of a case related to a company-wide employee theft conspiracy.
- First-chaired six magistrate court bench trials on behalf of an automobile dealership—allegations included breach of contract and false advertising; obtained judgment in favor of the dealership in all cases.
- Responded to nine subpoenas in an opioid litigation case pending in New Mexico by compiling documents and preparing third-party witnesses for depositions, defending the witnesses' depositions, and preparing the same witnesses to testify at trial.
- Drafted a successful motion to dismiss in a federal civil rights and breach of contract case.
