Michael Washington is a project analyst on the Legal Technology & Consulting Services Team with more than 17 years of experience working in the litigation support industry as an eDiscovery analyst and project manager.

Michael has worked at various service providers acquiring substantial technical skills in a variety of processing and hosting applications including IPRO eCapture, IPRO eClipse, IPRO Suite, IConnectNXT, Concordance, and Relativity. His experience managing large-scale eDiscovery projects with governmental agencies such as the DOJ, the SEC, the DOE, and the DOD has enabled him to appreciate the important nuances and differences in government and corporate processes. Michael has also worked for law firms, advising legal teams on data processing applications, document review applications, and training case teams. His combined legal and technical background are the driving force behind his ability to consistently provide quality service to his clients.
