Omar uses his experience carefully researching complex questions as a legal extern for the U.S. Attorney's Office to provide clients with practical and effective solutions with their best interests in mind.

Omar Morquecho focuses his practice on defending companies in class actions, privacy claims, products liability, and other complex litigation disputes, including multidistrict and mass arbitration proceedings. He has defended putative class actions in a wide variety of forums, including both state and federal courts, involving claims under the California Consumer Privacy Act, California Invasion of Privacy Act, and California's Unfair Competition Law.

Omar's clients include industry leaders in logistics, pharmaceutical, retail, and restaurants. He provides security, privacy, and compliance counseling to clients primarily in the telecommunications industry. Before joining the firm, Omar served as an extern at the U.S. Attorney's Office, researching complex legal questions in criminal matters.

Omar maintains an active pro bono practice, doing work on behalf of tenants in landlord-tenant disputes and related litigation with the Inner City Law Center.
