Tiany Worthy has over 20 years of experience in e-discovery in her career at Alston & Bird. Before becoming a technical team lead and the technical operations coordinator, she had roles as a case specialist and project analyst. Her years of experience give Tiany an inherent understanding of the unique needs of the firm's in-house litigation teams and a personal perspective that helps to design workflows that complement the working style of the attorney teams.

Tiany assists in the responsibility of overseeing e-discovery cases from inception to trial using the Electronic Discovery Reference Model (EDRM). She is proficient in the use of Relativity, Concordance, IPRO, and a variety of other processing and hosting tools. She is efficient in workspace design, management, and maintenance.
